LIVING SPACES
WOOD-MODE DESIGN STUDIO

ABOUT THE KITCHEN

This homeowner had recently relocated to Atlanta from Virginia. Having constructed his former Virginia residence, he was dismayed at leaving the newly completed home and its custom Wood-Mode kitchen. When he contracted to purchase his new home in Atlanta, his insistence to have a Wood-Mode kitchen led him to the design team at Living Spaces.

The kitchen was redesigned using the same Wood-Mode doors and finishes in the former home. Linda Vandewalle of Living Spaces worked closely with the client and builder to tailor the kitchen to the homeowner's specific needs and source the materials to complete the project. All existing cabinetry was replaced with Wood-Mode's dark cherry, Bistro, and maple, Lodge cabinetry. The existing layout was changed to accommodate the client's desire for symmetry and clean, contemporary styling. A stone vent hood was replaced with a stainless hood vent, all tile backsplashes were replaced with Ann Sacks tile, and countertops were changed to specially selected granite. The large island countertop is done in London Black concrete.

One of the unique features of this space is a hidden storage pantry behind the cabinetry in the butler's pantry. Cabinetry doors open to a walk-in pantry space. The new design also added much needed drawer space for convenient organization. Because these clients had experienced a recent construction project and worked with Wood-Mode cabinetry before, it was a smooth design process. This design improved the old layout, customized the space, and created a kitchen the new owner loved as well, if not more, than the one in his former home. The space now compliments the owner's design style and functional requirements.
